

How Small Cities Get New Industry By Joint Efforts

By William W. Rorff
Reprinted from Alabama Municipal Journal.

In today's competitive race for industry and payroll, rewards for achievement will be gained by those towns which no longer approach the problem on a hit or miss basis, but possess vision and leadership in organizing community effort as a special red or semi-professional approach in serving the industrial prospect's needs and plant site requirements. This observation is of course, quite broad and requires specific definition which I shall attempt to outline.

However, as a preview to a town's aggressive industrial development program, it might be well to review briefly some of the practices or omissions of towns concerning their industrial program to stimulate our thinking as to how improvement might be made.

One glaring example is cited by the publisher of Industrial Development, who's staff regards themselves as typical defenders and advocates of local development organizations, but he comments that there are many instances where they become discouraged by some of these development groups' lack of action as outlined in the following examples.

Bad Practices
Type 1—An inquiry is received from a prospect listing 20 communities of interest, asking for site proposal within 15 days. These towns are contacted by wire, stressing urgency—nine communities meet the deadline.

Type 2—An inquiry is referred to a town indicating it wants specific preliminary data, without revealing identity. Community group replies, "We're sure we have what this firm wants—just tell them to see us." The publisher concludes that a substantial percentage of local groups do a miserable job of responding to inquiries.

One explanation for such poor response is that many groups get excited only when the query comes to them direct from the industrial prospect. They just don't exert themselves to respond to anonymous inquiries referred by railroads, state agencies, utility firms, and other area groups. This may be human nature, but it's not good business. There are, of course, other omissions or malpractices of a negative nature which could be rectified; however, the examples already mentioned should suffice.

Adjusted to Selling Effort
I am sure that most everyone here would agree that "Community Attitude" toward industry, and the towns' industrial climate, with proper leadership, can be channeled into a "plus factor" and become an important adjunct in your selling effort.

Of the several mediums which might be used in establishing a relationship between your development group and prospects, I would vote strongly in favor of personal contact. Personal contact presents the opportunity to develop confidence with the prospect—that you are capable of serving his needs and can render a professional service to him. It also gives you the opportunity to define the prospect's specific requirements and operational characteristics peculiar to his proposed plant project.

In addition to advancing the prospect's interest in your community through personal contact and other media, the submission of a site brochure tailored to your prospect's requirements can materially contribute to your selling campaign. Preparation of brochures, in itself, is a subject worthy of separate treatment. However, suffice it to say that it should be devoid of "peripheral puffery." It should make a direct, if not bold approach in offering a practical solution to your prospect's needs.

Arch-Rivals Faced By Elba Tomorrow
The Elba Tigers look to perhaps their toughest game of the year in Tiger stadium tomorrow at 8 p.m. as they face Enterprise's devastating single wing attack. The Tigers will be out to average a 52 to 0 defeat last year in which the Tigers won only one game.

Already with the season just started, the Tigers have chalked up their second victory against one defeat over a stubborn band of Opp Bobcats last Friday to the tune of 20 to 13. Gary Hudson led the scoring with two touchdowns, and Elmer Twilley scored big holes in the Bobcat line all night.

Selection of Miss Elba is sponsored by the Elba Lions Club. Entries may be registered with Marion Brunson, chairman of the entry committee, or G. P. Miles, general chairman.

Gard Hudson slashed off the right arm for 25 yards in the first quarter and Elmer Twilley went over from one yard out in the second frame. Sanders added two extra points to make the halftime score 14 to 0.

Opp came roaring back in the third quarter to give the Tigers a scare, scoring points on two long punt returns, but the local machine ground out another TD on a 45 yard play by Hudson to put the game on ice.

Most of the wait for the victory can be given Coach George Grider and his able assistants, Ed Colmer and Bill Strickland. And of course, the Tiger line.

The Tigers face a much harder opponent tomorrow in the Wildcats, and they will have to come up with 48 minutes of hard football to make the third victory. With Russell and McCullough back in top form and the racehorse backfield of Sanders, Free, Hudson, and Twilley leading the way, the Tigers might well give the visitors an upset.

CHURCH AND THE PRESIDENCY

The American people have proved they do not vote for a president on the basis of his religious beliefs or lodge affiliations.

Our presidents have included ten Episcopalians, six Presbyterians, four Methodists, three Unitarians, two Baptists, two Dutch Reformed and one each of Quakers, Congregationalists and Disciples of Christ.

Four of them belonged to no church at all: Hayes, Jefferson, Lincoln and Johnson.

Eisenhower belonged to no church during his first campaign for the presidency, but no one mentioned it. His predecessor, Truman, was a Baptist, yet no Baptist was ever heard to mention the fact as a point in Truman's favor. And almost any Methodist would have to consult a World Almanac to learn who the four Methodist presidents were.

The Masonic fraternity is the largest fraternal organization in the nation yet if you asked almost any Mason if either of the candidates now in the race for president or vice-president is a Mason, he could not tell you. (None of them are.)

But there is one element in the U. S. population which constitutes an exception to this rule. Backers of Senator John F. Kennedy compiled an analysis for use in both the 1956 and 1960 prevention campaigns, published in the Aug. 1, 1960 issue of the U. S. News and World Report, beginning on Page 88, which shows that a high proportion of Catholics of all ages, residences, occupations and economic status vote for a well-known Catholic candidate or a ticket with a special Catholic appeal. It was circulated by Kennedy backers to prove that a Catholic candidate for president or vice-president would lend strength to the ticket. Recent public opinion surveys show 75 percent of Catholic voters for Kennedy though four years ago 47 per cent voted for Eisenhower.

Not only that but James P. Byrnes, one of the greatest statesmen of the Roosevelt era, tells in his autobiography entitled "All In One Lifetime," that he was opposed for selection as Roosevelt's running mate for vice-president by Catholic Democratic leaders because he had left the Catholic church in his youth and joined the Episcopal Church. Ed Flynn, Democratic boss of the Bronx; Ed Kelly, Democratic boss of Chicago; and Frank Walker, 48th chairman of the Democratic national committee, all Catholics, all agreed that Catholic voters would turn from a ticket that had a "renegade Catholic" in second place. All this is told beginning on Page 216 of "All In One Lifetime."

E & H Savings Bond Sales in Coffee Top Two Millions

Coffee county residents were congratulated this week for their part in swelling U. S. Savings Bond ownership to a new all-time high.

S. E. Sawyer, volunteer Coffee county co-chairman for the bond program in Alabama, said that nationwide holdings of Series E and H Savings Bonds stood at $42.8 billion as of Aug. 31, according to official word sent to him from the Treasury Department in Washington. Of this total, Alabama residents own about $423,352,000 and Mr. Sawyer estimated Coffee county's share of the total at approximately $2,200,015.

The report to Mr. Sawyer came in the form of a congratulatory letter from William H. Neal, Assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury and National Director of the Savings Bonds program. In it Mr. Neal said that the new $12.4 billion total tops the World War II peak of E Bond holdings by some $12 billion, pointing out the steady growth which has characterized the bond program throughout the peace-time years since 1945.

These statistical facts, however, are a comparatively minor part of the story," Mr. Neal told Mr. Sawyer. "Of vastly greater importance are the accomplishments of millions of families in making dreams come true through systematic savings; and the patriotic contribution of Savings Bond volunteers like you in making our program not alone successful, but even possible."

THANKS:

To my many friends who supported me in the recent election for Councilman, and during the past eight years, I regard them as my very true friends, something money cannot buy.

I have thoroughly enjoyed working for the interest of the people of Elba for the past eight years, and will continue to do everything I possibly can to help make our town a better place in which to live.

Always remember, it doesn't matter whether you win or lose, just how did you play the game?

Congratulations and best wishes to the new administration, and we should all join in giving them our full cooperation.

A cattle problem which is only ten years old in this country, but is spreading fast may cause losses on many of our farms again this fall and winter.

The problem is rhinotracheitis, sometimes known as "red nose." Today it has spread to two-thirds of the states, and is still advancing.

First warning of the disease in dairy cattle may be a sudden halt in milk flow. Symptoms in beef cattle include drooling, nasal discharge, and sometimes a cough. Later, the sick animals have difficulty in breathing and lose weight rapidly.

Rhinotracheitis is caused by direct contact between animals. For this reason, it can be brought onto the farm by replacement animals which can spread it when they mingle with the home herd.

Rhinotracheitis in this country will probably get worse before it gets better. It is still spreading, and is causing heavy losses. But alertness and prompt action are good safeguards if cattle owners will use them. As with all disease problems, a knowledge of the disease, what it looks like and what to do about it are our best defense.

SOIL NEWS

By T. C. Seir and Billy Taylor

Farm ponds are under construction on the Anglin Pittman and Howard Moody farms. These ponds will supply stock water throughout the year. There are many pastures that are not properly irrigated as a result of inadequate water. Even when water is available in a large pasture, cattle have to travel a long distance to the water. Therefore, grazing is not properly distributed over the pasture area.

These ponds are stocked with bream and bass supplied by the State Department of Conservation. Ponds fertilized with an 8-8-2 or equivalent fertilizer during the warm months of the year, produce catchable fish at the rates of 200 to 3.0 pounds per acre.

Farm pond construction has been at an all time high during the past three years. No other period in Coffee county history came close in comparison to the number of ponds constructed.

MEDALLION HOME

A NEW IDEA IN BETTER LIVING!

THE COORDINATED MEDALLION HOME PROGRAM, sponsored jointly by 10 power distributors in South Alabama, is designed to help you enjoy better living... electrically.

The MEDALLION AWARD was created by the electric utilities as a public service. It protects you from living in or buying a new home that's electrically old-fashioned; that has inadequate wiring, or too few and poorly placed outlets and switches, and insufficient lighting.

When a new home meets MEDALLION standards (only one new home in five is built well enough to qualify) you can live in or buy it with confidence.

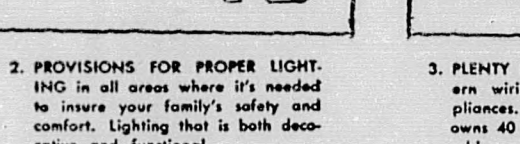

THE BRONZE OR GOLD MEDALLION which identifies all MEDALLION HOMES, is truly a work of distinction for today's homes.

THE MEDALLION HOME OFFERS YOU THESE ADVANTAGES:

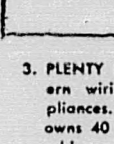

1. AN ALL-ELECTRIC KITCHEN—what every woman wants in her new home. Builders report that women, when given a CHOICE, choose the electric kitchen 9 to 1.

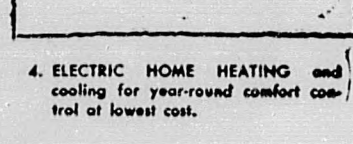

Your local power distributor can give you information about how your home can be made to qualify as a MEDALLION HOME, and how you can receive free, a distinctive bronze or gold medallion for mounting on your home.

2. PROVISIONS FOR PROPER LIGHTING in all areas where it's needed to insure your family's safety and comfort. Lighting that is both decorative and functional.

3. PLENTY OF "HOUSEPOWER"—modern wiring to handle today's appliances. (The average family now owns 40 electric appliances and will add more in the future.)

4. ELECTRIC HOME HEATING and cooling for year-round comfort control at lowest cost.

This program is sponsored by ALABAMA ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE, Andalusia, Alabama, supplier of wholesale electric power for the following co-sponsoring local distributors. See them for full details.
